

Friends of WaterWorks Art Museum,

As you put your trust in our museum, our priority is you. We will do what is in the best interest of our community and your loved ones. In order to protect our more vulnerable populations, we are going to do our part to help stop the spread of the coronavirus. Joining nation-wide and state efforts to stem the spread of COVID – 19, the WaterWorks Art Museum will be closed to the public, and all classes, tours, events, and programs will be canceled through April 6th.

We will monitor the situation daily, following national, state, and local mandates and share updates of any future cancellations or rescheduling as soon as the information is available. Please check our Facebook site regularly for updates. Although our doors will be temporarily closed, we remain committed to sharing arts and culture with you. Now more than ever, our community needs the healing and restorative inspiration that art offers us to unite everyone during this difficult time.

These are some of the ways WAM will continue to do this:

- WAM staff will be working hard behind the scenes to plan for upcoming exhibits, events, and classes.
- We will maintain an active, online presence with Facebook live gallery tours, and Instagram posts.
- Although our upcoming events, the Mad Hatter's Tea Party Dinner, and the benefit concert have been canceled, we hope you continue to find ways to support us through these difficult days we are facing.
- We will be brainstorming fundraising ideas that will be fun and entertaining, hopefully soon.

Updates and information on WAM's upcoming events, exhibitions, and classes will be shared on WaterWorks Art Museum's Facebook page and Instagram account. If you have questions you can also leave a message on our website. Please like our Facebook page and follow us on Instagram to stay in touch.

Thank you for your support and patience as we respond to this evolving situation. We will get through this together. Stay healthy and be well.
